Central conversation question/topic: How are we to live life?

Audience/learners: Adult study group

Amount of film used: Entire film

When film used: I would have the group first make a list of things they would like to do before they aren’t here anymore. Then I would ask them to fold that piece of paper up and put it to the side. I would then announce what the film is and we would watch the entire thing.

Goal of this conversation: Reflect on how we think we should live our lives with how God tells us we should live our lives.

How to focus the film: I would ask them to list the things that are on Carter and Edward’s bucket list as they seem them in the movie.

Questions to ask after film is viewed:
- How do we see the way the two men live their lives in the beginning of the movie?
- What are the things that you saw on the bucket list?
  - What are some of the things that each of you wrote down for your bucket list?
- How do we see change take place in the men’s lives through the bucket list?

Conversations partners: Participant would be asked to contrast how we think life should be lived with that of the first question of the Westminster Shorter Catechism.

Q1. What is the chief end of man?
A1. Man’s chief end is to glorify God, and to enjoy him forever.

How conversation partners brought into conversation: Ask additional questions surrounding the Shorter Catechism.

- Based on the answer in the Shorter Catechism could you see this played out in Edward’s life? In Carter’s life?
- In reflection to the film and the earlier questions what are ways that we can be faithful to our purpose? To how we should live our lives?
